General Comments A monitoring inspection occurred in the morning. The children were observed in both the indoor and outdoor environment including the transition between the two. The children were observed engaged in a variety of activities, including using magnetic blocks on the light table, playing with cars, and exploring a tuff tray invitation with lentils. During snack time, children ate while the operator read a book selected by the children. Outdoors, children independently filled paint pots with their chosen colours and painted recycled materials. Children were heard saying, "What colour am I going to make?" as they mixed the paint. During the activity, the operator asked open ended questions and did not provide answers about the colours being made, asking children what colour they thought would result and allowing them to determine the outcome. Several forms of documentation were visible throughout the room, including photographs, learning stories, a learning web, individual learning story books, and children's artwork. The room was well organized and inviting, offering a varied supply of age-appropriate materials, books, and toys. Traffic areas are kept clean, and outdoor walkways are free of clutter. Toxic products such as cleaning agents are securely locked and inaccessible to children. The changing area is located within one metre of a sink, and diaper changing procedures are clearly posted. Positive child guidance techniques were observed. The operator was seen engaging at the children's level, providing appropriate supervision, using encouraging language, offering choices, and assisting children with decision-making. The home maintains a clearly visible and prominent space for posting the license, current inspection report, current monitoring reports, and any orders for compliance. Additional documents observed included incident logs, daily attendance records, and records of evacuation and monthly fire drills.
