General Comments

A Monitoring Inspection was completed this afternoon. Children were observed playing inside. Upon arrival, a group of children were observed sitting at a table, making homemade holiday ornaments with an educator. Another group of children were observed sitting in the cozy reading area, listening to an educator read a holiday themed story book. Quality Assurance Monitor took part in a few games of tick tack toe, with a group of children. Several learning invitations were set up throughout the room and several forms of documentation were also observed. Positive child guidance techniques were observed - educators offering choices, using encouragement and providing children with compliments, conversing with the children, and taking part in activities.
