General Comments A monitoring inspection was conducted today. All but one group of children had gone on a walk to explore the neighbourhood. The early learning environments in the childcare facility are set up with inviting and engaging invitations for play. Children's learning is evident and is posted on the walls for the children and the educators to revisit. Documentation in the form of learning stories, graphs/charts, pictures of the children engaged in both inside and outside activities and their art are displayed throughout each learning environment. It was observed, during the inspection, that after snack, children have the ability to get up from the table and engage in free play without being made to sit until their friends finish. This is a great example of respecting the children. It was also observed that when an educator called the children together for a story, a child asked if she could "read" to her friends. The educator did not hesitate and said absolutely and let the child "read" stories to her friends. Respecting the child and acknowledging them as capable and competent learners is foundational in the NBCF-E.
