| General Comments A renewal inspection occurred today. Children were observed both indoors and outdoors. Various forms of invitations were set up, including but not limited to "duck theme props" and "Valentines". Children (as well as educators) were engaged in their learning environments, forming meaningful relationships. Areas were flexible to accommodate children's emerging interests. Furnishings were child-size, comfortable and accessible. Documentation was present within the classrooms that displayed open-ended art projects created and led by the children. Educators had purposely planned activities that took into account each child's strengths, interests and desires. Educators also involve families by asking for involvement with fun activities. Medications were locked properly and kept away from children. All checks were complete. All staff and a random review of children's files were also verified and complete. |
