General Comments

Children's art work posted and wonderful documentation posted demonstrating children's interests and learning. Preschool children excited to tell me all about their current interest in Superheroes and the masks they made. Children's print posted in the classroom values children's ability and demonstrates their ideas have meaning and is valued.

In the 3 year old room children shared all about the fun they had in the outdoor environment on the slide. They also shared about the butterfly project and discussed what they would be having for snack. Educators observed engaged and very responsive to children.
