General Comments
Educators and children observed during monitoring inspection engaged in activities throughout the learning environments ahead of lunch time. In the preschool room, children were excited to share about the volcano's they had created using paper mache. We discussed the process they used to create the volcanos and how they will dry and what they will do to make them erupt. I look forward to seeing the documentation created from this activity on my next inspection visit! Throughout all learning environments the children's current interests and learning were evident in the documentation posted. The way children's interests are embedded in all learning centres through the materials offered demonstrates that educators are thinking deeply about the ways they can extend and expand children's interests in a particular topic . Discussed group logs as required in the Covid-19 Guidance document. Ensure that your group log reflects the "bubble" group and not attendance. Also, ensure that any time a change is made (i.e. snow day) that the date established for a particular group is also changed. This supports accurate contact tracing should it be required.
