Comments: During the monitoring inspection, the Quality Assurance Monitor observed stagnant water in the water table. The water table consists of 2 buckets that both had stagnant water. Standing water can easily allow growth of bacteria and/or bugs. The Quality Assurance Monitor voiced to the administrator that the standing water in the buckets must be emptied, and children are not playing with the water table until the water is emptied and replaced with fresh water. The Quality Assurance Monitor also voiced to administrators that while the use of the water table is accepted for children to play with, the water must be emptied after each use to avoid having stagnant water.
