General Comments
Evidence of planning and documentation were evident throughout the facility. The infants were engaged in painting. The educators were responsive and kind with each of the children; responding to their frustrations, requests for help and changes. The educators in the 2 year old room split up to allow some children bum changes before going outside. Children in the 4 year old room and toddler room were enjoying the newly fallen snow. Children in the 3 year old room had the opportunity to play with frozen paint on butcher paper and remarked on the different colors, "No that's brown." "Mine has all the colors." could be heard. Mint scented green play dough was set up with utensils and accessories as well as another table with paper, glue and glitter. The educators turn off the main lights in the room after snack and use only natural light and some lamps to provide a 'calming' environment. Ensure enough light is provided to engage in art activities, puzzles, reading, etc. The environment throughout the facility was clean and toys and activities are accessible for children.
