General Comments

The first two rooms had combined today due to lower numbers and the older after schoolers were in the third room. All of the children combined in one room at 4:30 when the total number of children was less than 20. The staff to child ratio was more than met today. One child had moved between rooms and children were being picked up continually so there was some uncertainty in numbers. Be sure if children are moving rooms, all educators are aware and the child is on the appropriate attendance record.

Resources are accessible throughout each room. Children in the younger groups were engaged in play with paper planes, play food, imaginative play with a doll house and castle, wooden blocks, cars and a mat, and art materials were available with children painting and creating bracelets out of beads.

Two forts had been created in the older children's room and children were building with magnetic blocks in one and the other fort had created a club with a sign on the door with members. Educators are aware of the benefits of fort building for children. Children were also set up at a table creating graphic comics with writing materials and paper.

Children were reminded to sit at the table in the older group when eating and be sure to remind children in the younger groups to sit at a table when eating lunches and snacks to ensure safety.
