General Comments

Children were observed in the outdoor play space in the morning. Educators were spread out in the space and maintained good sight lines. Programming was brought outside. Children were coloring photos to bring to the Veteran's unit and others were painting flowerpots for Mother's Day.

Rooms appeared clean, organized and had a variety of materials accessible for the children in well-defined learning areas. Children's art continues to be posted in both the classrooms and hallways. Learning stories were also posted and at the children's level.

The flooring has been replaced in the basement and both the morning program/after school room and the four/five's room were inviting, colorful and child centered.

Licensing staff observed the transition at lunch time in the 3's room. Educator's spoke to children in a calm, kind tone. Children were familiar with the routine from entering the classroom from outdoors, washing hands and using the washroom, and looking at a book. Lunch today was tomato soup, grilled cheese, crackers, pickles, oranges and milk. Educators served the children the soup and sandwich so children could begin eating and then offered crackers and pickles to the children and passed out the milk. The routine was smooth.

In the other rooms during lunch, educators were assisting children and receptive to their needs with eating but also encouraging independence. Children had ample time to eat and were offered additional servings if still hungry.
