General Comments
The children were playing upon arrival and then had snack. They were given as much time as they needed to eat and were never rushed to be finished. There were many activities observed at the time of visit such as reading, songs, dancing and games. The children then cleaned up and went outside. The educators were always engaged with the children and put their needs first. They were observed having conversations at the children's levels and playing with them. One of the children was putting their hands on the other children and one of the teacher's redirected them to have a "love talk". The encounter between the educator and the child was to reiterate simple reminders of how they treat their friends at preschool. Only positive child guidance was seen at the time of visit. The school-age children arrived and were free to engage in the many of the learning materials and centres set up through the room. Invitations for play were set up by the teachers and the atmosphere was calm and inviting. All documentation was easily verified for licensing and I can now recommend facility for licensing pending a current fire inspection.
