General Comments When I arrived there were four children present. They were all doing different activities. One was having a snack, one was drawing, while the other two were playing with lego and magnets. Farah is very engaged with the children and makes sure she gives each child individual attention by asking them how they are doing and participating in the activity the child is working on. The topic of the week is lego. Farah took the children outside while I was there, however the children did not have the proper attire and she felt it was too hot to stay out very long. Went back into the center where it was cooler and they continued to work on their projects. The walls in the room are covered with documentation and there are various invitations set up in the room.
