General Comments

Upon arrival the children were playing outside and engaged in many different activities that suited their interests. There were children painting, some mixing colors, and others engaged in water play. The Operator never rushes the children and allows them to make choices and decisions. The operator would ask permission to take a photo of the children's work prior to doing so. She never made assumptions and evidently respected the children's wishes.

The Operator has open communication with the parents and advises them through e-mail of the planned activities for the week ahead, as well as any illness that may be occurring within the facility.

All required documentation was easily verified. Files are meticulous and complete. Potential illness forms are being filled out and children are leaving facility if needed.

There was evidence of children's projects throughout the facility. The Operator provides the children with a large variety of materials so that they can explore and create. As the children were engaged in their work you could witness the creativity that they each had.

I can recommend facility for licensing pending current Fire and Health inspections. Both departments have been notified.
