General Comments
Operator has rearranged and expanded the art area in the center. The materials are in labeled containers on a large shelf by the craft table. The children have better access to the materials and are becoming more creative in their designs. The operator has also begun to set out books on another table. She had noticed the children were not interested in the books when they were on the shelves. Now that some are set on the table each week, they children have become more interested in reading the books and coming up with different activities to do based on the books. Some children have started to write their own stories and books. During the visit the children moved freely from activity to activity. The most popular activities of the day were lego and playdough. The operator promotes independence with children by getting them to try and do things themselves such as opening containers and zipping up jackets. The operator is very pleasant with the children. The children are very comfortable in the environment.
