General Comments

I signed in upon arrival at the center. The children had free play and then had lunch before going outside. The outside area has been repaired and updated. The children seemed to enjoy playing on the play structures and in the large sand box. Some children were also playing soccer in the open area. The program also allows children to participate in swimming and skating every week. The indoor area appears clean and I noticed that the cleaning charts are being kept up to date.

There are quite a few learning stories on the walls in both areas of the after school program. They are well done, and some tie the children's learning back to the curriculum. There were some current ones up (October), but also ones that were outdated from April. Some did not have dates on them, and I suggest putting dates on each story and putting up newer ones every so often. Children's work is displayed in the after school spaces. They were working on Remembrance Day crafts. Other forms of children's work was also displayed in the classrooms. Please continue to build upon your program planning and documentation using the curriculum framework.

I looked at the indoor space and the materials available for the children. The indoor spaces appear to be clean. Now that we have returned to a normal cleaning schedule again, more materials can be added to the rooms, and also various materials could be placed to be more accessible to the children. I will email specific suggestions to the administrator.

I saw positive child guidance by the educators. They used reminders, explanation of why rules are in place, redirection, and active listening. They also demonstrated caring and patience with the children. During my visit I saw adequate supervision and had no concerns with it. The program appeared to run well.
