General Comments

Upon arrival, the children were heading outside to ride their bikes. All children wear a helmet and seem to be utilizing good safety practices. The children stayed out until lunch time, came in to eat and then went outside again.

Educators seem to have built good relationships with the children and have planned a good balance of activities for the children for over the summer. On the walls, you can see learning stories, pictures and artwork of what the children have completed.

All documentations for licensing were easily verified and are kept in an organized fashion.

Fire and health inspection are up to date and I can recommend facility for licensing.
