General Comments
Ratio was respected during the visit. The indoor play area has a variety of toys and games that are age appropriate, the material is accessible to the children. The outdoor area gives the children a wonderful range of materiel and structures to explore. The parent board has all the required documents. All the children's files are complying. During the visit I have seen that the children's needs are well known and important to the educator, each child is accepted into his or her uniqueness.
