General Comments

Upon Licensing staff arrival for renewal inspection, the operator was playing a board game with a child in the main space. Due to a school event, there was only one child in attendance during inspection.

The main space was organized, clean, and inviting. Play material such as board games, puzzles, art supplies, dolls, and books were all in good condition and stored in a tidy manner. Throughout the space, children's current artwork and photos were on display and web planning was posted for with Fall and Halloween themed activities. During inspection, it was evident that the operator offers a kind and nurturing program as there were giggles and conversation heard between the Operator and the child during game play.

The outdoor play area offered space for creativity and exploration with multiple pathways, plants, small footbridges, as well as rocks painted by the children. For outdoor play material, there were bins with balls, hula hoops, bowling sets, frisbees, as well as a small slide and playhouse.

During inspection, files were verified, and all required documentation was present. Monthly fire drills were complete, daily attendance logs were up to date, and the daily routine as well as evacuation procedures were posted. The parent board in the main entry was organized with a monthly snack menu, required licensing postings as well as emergency contacts for children.

Licensing staff recommends for renewal.
