General Comments

Monitoring Inspection:

Children and educators observed engaged in a variety of activities this afternoon including open ended art, building with Magnatiles and Lego, dramatic play, and stories. A small group of children were observed reading books and relaxing in the cozy area to unwind after school.

Purposeful planning is evident through documentation, invitations and materials added to the environments that support the children's current interests. QA Monitor left recommendations with Group #3 educator on ways to support children's interest in potion making. Materials recommended: baking soda, vinegar, cornstarch, liquid water colours, sensory materials, whisks, funnels, measuring spoons and cups, and foam soap.

Educators were observed welcoming the children to the program as they arrived from school.
Handwashing routines were observed during washroom routines and at arrival from school.
Monthly fire drills are documented.
Daily attendance records are accurate and reflect all children present. Child-to-staff ratio was observed to be met during Monitoring Inspection.
New staff file (3) review was completed; all required documents were observed, however; many documents were not easily accessible at the time of inspection. Ensure all permanent staff have a complete file on site and that relief staff have their files easily accessible.
Change Service Application to be submitted to QA Monitor for the change in Administrator.
