General Comments

On the day of my visit the children arrived fairly quietly then played and everyone knew what they were supposed to do and did it. The younger and older children are separated into two groups by age and they had snack and then played at the centres that were already set up for them in separate groups. They can use the smaller rooms for play doh, painting and reading etc. Weather permitting the program spends a lot of time in outdoor play but they have a gym that they can use when the weather is inclement.

The staff files were up to date and all administrative tasks were completed.
