9(1) The child-to-staff ratio is one educator for each of the following groups of children of the same age receiving services at a full-time or part-time early learning and childcare centre: (a) three infants or fewer; (b) five children or fewer who are two years of age; (c) eight children or fewer who are three years of age; (d) ten children or fewer who are four years of age or older, but who are not yet attending school; and (e) 15 school-age children or fewer.	9(1)	Mar 13, 2024	Mar 13, 2024
Comments: When I arrived, there was five children inside alone playing while the educators and the other children were outside playing in the field. Although children of school age can have indirect supervision with parental consent, children inside the building alone, despite if checks are done on the children, is not considered indirect supervision. In direct supervision for example is when children would be playing in an adjacent room.

General Comments The centre is clean and organized. The children have a sufficient quantity of materials at their disposal such as but not limited to games, books, Legos, a doll house and accessories and arts and craft materials. The children came back from outside and had snack, then engaged in activities of their choice. The children were playing in different rooms and staff were engaged with the children, some were observed sitting on the floor and playing with them. Everything is in compliance, I recommend for renewal.
