General Comments
A Monitoring Inspection was completed this morning. Children were inside, cleaning up their toys, in preparation for outside play, at QAM's arrival. Outside Play - Children were very excited for outside play. Children were observed squirting different colored paints onto the snow, and into buckets. Children were observed filling their buckets with water, from the back yard spring. Children were observed exploring the forest, and sliding on their bums, down a snowy bank. Children were observed using sticks as fishing rods, and fishing for all kinds of wild animals, in the spring. Positive child guidance techniques were observed - gentle reminders, anticipating children's needs, offering choices, assisting children in decision making, and offering children the opportunity for new activities. Documentation was observed inside. Children's photos were accompanied by a piece of their own artwork. At the front entrance, a white board was observed, with photos and learning stories. Operator stated that the children are starting to play with each other and talk more. Operator stated that the children have many different interests, some of which include Play Doh, slime, drawing with markers, practicing walking skills, and running.
