General Comments QAM observed one group transitioning to the playground upon arrival from school. Educators brought a wagon containing various balls to support outdoor play. The outdoor play area included a sand section, basketball nets, and a playground structure. Inside, the second group was engaged in multiple invitation-based activities. Children were observed playing checkers, exploring the sand table, participating at the coloring table, reading in the designated reading area, engaging in a tea-party setup within the dramatic play area, and writing on the chalkboards. The indoor environment was clean, organized, and well-maintained. The parent board, staff-to-child ratios, and fire drill records were accurate and up to date.
