General Comments

A Monitoring Inspection was completed this afternoon. The children were on the deck, finishing up an Ice Cream treat at QAM's arrival. There was no school today, so the school aged children were at the facility all day. The older group was observed upstairs, and the younger children were observed downstairs. Upstairs - children were observed singing and talking in the microphones, at the Karaoke center. This was a big hit! Children were observed putting on shows, and there was even an Action Sign and video camera. Others were observed sitting at a table, playing cards, reading books, and building with Lego. Downstairs, the younger children were observed building with magnetic tiles, drawing on white boards, and coloring. Educators stated that the children are presently interested in Pokémon and Paw Patrol. Educator stated that a new Veterinarian center would be added to the play environment soon, as children are also very interested in animals. Both levels had several well-defined learning centers – building, reading, dramatic play, science, etc. Several forms of documentation were observed throughout the facility.
