General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today.

Inspector observed the children in all four rooms associated with this license during both inside and outside play, lunch, and nap/quiet time. Inspector observed transitions occurring smoothly and naturally.

Room 3, Inspector observed that the children's learning is documented and displayed on the walls and in a binder. Pictures and captions of the children engaged in exploring making music on the outside music wall and splashing in puddles. Fine motor activity such as cutting with scissors. Pictures of wooden loose parts created into shapes by the children. Samples of open-ended art. Children engaged in "making dinner" with their peers. Building with blocks to create structures and discovering when you change a block it changes its structure.

In Room 4, Inspector observed that documentation supporting the children's learning was displayed on the walls and in a binder. Pictures and captions of the children learning to print their names. Children are exploring "things that move." Creating figures with coffee filters with a straw attached, exploring movement with ramps and which car would go the furthest on the ramp and documenting this on a chart. A science centre has been created in the loft and Inspector observed sensory bottles, microscope, magnets, test tubes, measuring cups, white board, and funnels available for children to explore science activities.

In Room 5, Inspector observed documentation of the children's learning. The children in this room have been exploring painting with their hands and fingers, exploring nature in the play yard by tracing leaves through transfer paper. Documentation supporting the exploration of creating new colors by mixing colors was also observed. A tuff tray was observed set up in the room for the children to explore properties of texture, (smooth, crunchy, rough, and scratchy) with leaves and sticks. Educators indicated that while outside today the children discovered that if they sat in the snow, they could slide down the hills in their snow suits. The children shared their experience with the Inspector, indicating the fun they had when doing this.

In Room 17, the children have been engaged in exploring color pop-it toys, exploring wooden blocks, stacking them to see how they fit together, creating a snow house from cardboard, Styrofoam, and glue. Inspector also observed the children mark making and creating pictures.

General Comments

Recommending that copies of the children's learning be kept in a binder in the rooms for licensing to observed purposefully planned and documented activities. Families have access to their children's learning via Bright Wheel that Educators post to daily in each room.

Inspector observed positive child guidance techniques occurring within each learning environment. Inspector observed educators tending to the needs of the children, appropriately speaking to them and down at the level of the children when interacting with them.

Facility is recommended for license renewal, pending the recommendation from Fire.
