General Comments
Completed the renewal inspection today. The children were actively engaged in play within the interest centers with one another. Observed a great deal of pretend play and cooperation. The children were using kind words with their peers and their educator and they were also very welcoming of their "visitor" (Early Learning and Childcare Inspector). The children's portfolios are well done in addition to the school age binder of activities. Posted documentation demonstrates evidence of the children's interests and supports their learning. The dinosaur documentation board is exceptional! This captures photos of the children participating in various activities, their words, comments, drawings and a song. The children were observed to be comfortable in their learning environment. The educator was engaged with the children at their level and available to the children at all times. The educator was observed to cue in to teachable moments as they presented and guided the children appropriately. Handwashing was observed often and the children were familiar with the general routine of the morning.
