General Comments A Monitoring Inspection occurred on April 7, 2025. Children were observed during indoor free play, engaging in various activities within well-defined learning and play areas. Proper handwashing was observed during the transition to indoor play. Steps or platforms were in place to allow children to access regular-sized toilets and sinks safely. A sensory area was available with an adequate quantity of sand, water, and accessories that are rotated regularly. Drinking water was made available to children throughout the day. The operator shared that the children are currently interested in being active outdoors, exploring bugs and signs of spring, and engaging with loose parts such as laminate boards used for car ramps, as well as playing card games. The operator was observed using positive language, providing gentle reminders, and actively engaging in children's activities. All required records and documents were available and maintained for the required period of one year, including a daily incident log. Parents of children present at the center are granted entry at any time. Monthly emergency evacuations are completed and posted. Emergency evacuation procedures are displayed in a prominent location. Life-threatening allergies are posted for staff awareness. The license, current inspection report, current monitoring reports, and any orders for compliance are posted in a clearly visible and prominent area. The daily routine is also posted for reference. The indoor environment reflected various forms of literacy, with several pieces of children's artwork and documentation displayed throughout the facility. The operator was observed making efforts to extend the curriculum outdoors and to bring elements of the natural world into the classroom.
