General Comments
Upon arriving at the facility, the children were not yet out of school. One educator was observed welcoming the children once the bell rang. Daily attendance was taken, and the educators encouraged the children to eat their snacks before going outside to play. Another educator was observed bringing a group to the washroom before going outside to play. The educators were heard praising the children as they got ready and lined up in the hallway. A headcount was done; water bottles and the first aid kit were all brought outside. Once outside, the children played in the snow and the play structure. The educators were observed engaging in the children's interests and their needs. The washrooms were clean; the parent information board was complete. Staff files were verified and found to be complete.
