General Comments

Afternoon Monitoring Inspection:

Adam's Room: The preschool children were observed waking from nap and engaging in activities such as puzzles, coloring, and playdough. Educators shared that the children are currently interested in sensory activities, cars, Paw Patrol, and dress-up. To support these interests, sensory bins have been created using materials such as artificial snow, bells, magnetic sticks, and penguins, along with books to extend learning.

Bentley's Room: The school-aged children were observed preparing for outdoor play. The educator stated the plan was to walk the trail. Upon return, children were observed participating in activities with the educator, including balloon volleyball, tower building, and snack time.

The documentation for both preschool and school-age programs was current and reflects ongoing learning and interests.

The following records were reviewed: Fire drills and daily attendance sheets.

Staff files (2) were reviewed. All required documents are in place.

Licensing staff discussed the following with the Operator:

- * Bentley's Room - Ensure the carpet in the reading area is cleaned and declutter shelves.
- * Relocate licensing contact information to the parent board.
