General Comments

Licensing Staff arrived at the facility to perform a Monitoring Inspection. Upon arrival, the children were finishing up morning snack and preparing to transition to the fenced in, outdoor play area. The children had the opportunity to use the washroom before lining up for outside. Several headcounts were observed as the children went from their classroom to outside. Sunscreen was applied once the children were outside. Hats, attendance records and water bottles were brought along.

The children spent the morning outside engaged in a variety of games and activities. The children laughed and smiled as they ran around the playground pretending to be superheroes. The children told Licensing staff they were "going to save the city from bad guys" as they climbed and jumped off wooden stumps. An Educator noticed the children's interest and took out capes and superhero masks for the children to use. Other children were observed carrying plastic dinosaurs as they stomped around the playground. The Educators were engaged and attentive to the needs of the children. Educators were observed singing along as the children played on the teeter-totter, hugging and rubbing the back of a child who was not feeling well and offering words of encouragement, "You did it all by yourself, good job!".

The transition back inside was smooth. Once inside, the children got their indoor shoes on and gathered to sing songs and read stories before having lunch. Attendance records and monthly fire drills were reviewed and up to date. During the monitoring visit, a post-it note was noted on the white board that a child will be missing out on daily activities due to not cleaning up material. A conversation was had on site with the Operator to ensure staff are aware and following proper positive child guidance techniques at all times.
