General Comments When QAM arrived at the facility in the afternoon, the children were engaged in play in the outdoor learning environment. A variety of activities and materials were available for the children. QAM observed children riding balance bikes, colouring at an outdoor table, playing with dinosaurs, and engaging with a toy farm and animal figures. Inside the facility, QAM reviewed incident reports and fire drill records, which were complete and up to date. Invitations were observed that reflected different cultures and the fall season. The facility also displayed an activity completed in recognition of Truth and Reconciliation Day. The facility was observed to be clean and organized, with an adequate amount of materials and supplies available to support the learning environments.
