General Comments

Renewal Inspection completed on July 13, 2022.

Operator was outside with children upon my arrival. During the drop-off of two children, the operator showed lots of nurturing care which comforted the children. She offered different suggestions of materials to play with to transition the children into the start of their day.

During the morning, the children coloured in mini books, checked on their garden, played in the water table, built with blocks and had snack outside. Snack was jam toast, apple slices, and water.

Before lunch, the children enjoyed snuggling up with the operator on the back deck and read many books together.

There is an outdoor book house for books and the children were able to choose as many as they wished for the operator to read. The operator reads with great expression and voices which made this a lot of fun for the children.

The operator displayed an abundance of strong child guidance practices. She was patient with various behaviors, got down to the children's level, and asked lots of questions to try to understand why a child was sad or upset. She was very attentive to their needs while allowing them to build on their vocabulary and use their words to express their emotions and practice independence.

Handwashing occurred throughout the visit at appropriate times.

Attendance, fire drill records and all other required paperwork is being completed.

The operator creates a weekly at a glance newsletter which keeps parents very informed of the menu for the week and programming, field trips, and events.

The curriculum is very well understood and implemented and this is evident through the diverse programming, documentation throughout the home, and the variety of materials and experiences offered to the children.

General Comments

The children's artwork is beautifully displayed inside and materials/resources are stored creatively for children to access on their own.

I recommend for renewal.
