General Comments Rooms were clean, bright and well organized. Two art activities were observed in the morning preschool room. Children were given the opportunity to explore with glue and with paint which were self-directed, and process focused. Documentation of learning was posted throughout the rooms with learning stories from the past month with links to the curriculum. The room arrangement allowed space for larger self-directed projects to take place. In the full-time room long term projects were observed as children had planted and were growing flowers. Children were excited for their trip to the Elk's Club later that afternoon and were practicing the songs they would be performing for the elderly. The transition to outdoor play was observed and children who were ready were given an activity to do while remaining children and educators got ready to go outside. This was a proactive approach to avoid negative behaviours while children waited for everyone to get ready. Positive behaviour guidance was observed at all times throughout the inspection.
