General Comments

The Quality Assurance Monitor is on-site to conduct a monitoring inspection. Throughout the visit, the child-to-staff ratio is maintained.

During the inspection, the Quality Assurance Monitor observes that there is a sufficient amount of equipment and materials available for the children and that daily activities are properly documented. Positive interactions between educators and children are also noted.

While on-site, children participate in a taste test activity with the educator. The Quality Assurance Monitor also observes children eating lunch and preparing to watch a movie with their stuffed animals brought from home.
