General Comments

On the day of my visit, it was March break. The children were playing outside this morning, and then came inside to color some pictures and play, and after lunch they went to the library where there were activities happening.

The operator demonstrated lots of positive guidance, and used techniques such as gentle reminders, encouragement, and redirection. She seemed to set boundaries well, and she communicated respectfully with the children. The ELC home had a variety of craft supplies, as well as age appropriate games and toys. Staff and child files are very organized and contain all necessary information.

Toxics were locked on the day of the visit, but the lock will now have to be replaced with a lock and key rather than CSA approved locks.
