General Comments The Quality Assurance Monitor conducted an on-site monitoring inspection. During the visit, the following areas were reviewed and verified: - Daily programming - Daily routine - Rest area materials and equipment - Indoor play area - Washrooms - Storage space for toxic products and personal belongings - Diaper changing area The Quality Assurance Monitor (QAM) was on site during preschool outdoor playtime, followed by the lunchtime routine. During the visit, the QAM observed school-aged children engaged in a creative activity, making animal crafts using clay. The QAM observed learning stories displayed throughout the preschool rooms, demonstrating an excellent approach to documenting children's learning and development. In the after-school room, daily programming was confirmed through the review of the activity calendar, which clearly reflected planned activities and experiences. As the visit concluded, the preschool children were observed preparing the rest area for naptime, indicating a smooth transition between routines. A discussion was held with the administrator regarding the use of new rooms within the school. The QAM will follow up with the operator to ensure that all requirements are addressed and that everything is in order. No non-compliances were identified during the inspection.
