General Comments

A Monitoring Inspection was conducted this morning. The infants were observed inside, during free play & snack. Positive child guidance techniques were observed in all rooms - educators on the children's level, educators reading and singing to the children, and educators providing choices. Several forms of documentation were observed in each room - learning stories, children's artwork, webs, etc. Room 9A had some of their documentation in laminated books, which were displayed in the children's Tuff Tray. Children were observed looking at these books, during today's inspection. A recommendation was given for all classrooms to formulate similar books. Well defined learning / play centers were observed in each classroom - arts & crafts, building, reading, gross motor, etc. Daily information sheets were observed in each classroom. Attendance records were observed in each classroom, and they were accurate.
