General Comments
Upon licensing staff arrival for the renewal inspection, children were engaged in free play throughout the morning. Children were able to choose when they wanted to eat snack from their lunch boxes brought from home during the morning play period. Children washed their hands before sitting at the table to eat. The environment offered a variety of opportunities for play and learning. Children were observed exploring a fall-themed loose-parts invitation to play that included orange-dyed water, funnels, empty maple syrup bottles, and small acorns. Other children were creating with magnetic blocks. The older groups had been exploring bodies of water as an area of interest throughout the week. Landform resources illustrating different bodies of water were available for children to explore, and children were observed working on their own "book," using glued pictures of lakes and learning terminology related to the theme. Yodos were also set up to provide children with opportunities to listen to stories. Children had an interest in books, and fall themed books were easily available for them to grab and ask an educator to read it for them. Circle time took place, with a final call for snack given at approximately 10:30 a.m. Following circle time, children were provided with wooden turkeys and leaves to paint, allowing them to explore the materials and express their creativity freely. The groups then transitioned outdoors, where a variety of play opportunities were available. The outdoor environment included a rock-climbing wall, monkey bars, slides, and other play structures. A sandbox was also available, along with labelled materials such as kitchen accessories, shovels, and other age-appropriate resources to support children's imaginative and exploratory play. Staff and child files were reviewed and found to be in compliance. Monthly fire drills were documented as completed. Throughout the inspection, only positive child guidance practices were observed. Licensing staff recommends the program for renewal.
