General Comments Children engaged in both indoor and outdoor play this morning. A variety of materials accessible to the children in each interest centre within the learning environments. Observed the groups participating in "double bubble time" which allows the children from separate groups to participate in a group activity at the same time while staying on their own sides of the room. This is a wonderful way to build a sense of community within the facility during this time of social distancing. Many positive interactions observed between educators and children during play, transition times and at snack time. Facility has added a new fenced in outdoor play area with mud kitchen and shed. This a great addition to the program. Discussed with educators including more of the children's interests on the bulletin board displays around the room rather than themed bulletin boards. Educators could have a number of interests happening within their group that they can explore.
