General Comments
A Monitoring Inspection was completed this morning. The 4-year-old morning preschool was observed. Children were observed finishing their snacks at arrival. After snack, children were observed getting ready for outside play – getting their outdoor clothing on and lining up at the door. While the children were outside, QAM observed the inside environment. Several well-defined learning centers were observed. Learning invitations and activities were set up for the children, one of which included a water table that contained several different sensory items, including kinetic sand, sticks, and other loose parts. In the Arts and Crafts center, it was evident that children had recently finished making their own bugs. For this bug activity, educators provided the children with a variety of loose parts and art materials. Children's artwork was observed drying on a shelf. Educator stated that the children are presently interested in anything Science based, messy activities, and outside play. Children were observed in the outside play area, shoveling rocks into buckets, playing chasing games, and smiling and laughing.
