General Comments On the afternoon of my visit, children were engaged and happy. The operator organizes the children into Groups A & B. I saw children playing X Tag with their leaders, playing ping pong, and building with Lego. Children have opportunities for physical/gross motor opportunities and other more quiet activities such as playing cards and drawing. I observed good child guidance practices. I noted that when children were wanting to use the same item, an educator intervened when appropriate and spoke calmly and with lots of respect. It is a large centre with a lot of action but the organization of the operator and his team, along with the respect between the staff and children, allowed for an afternoon that ran smoothly. Both children and staff seemed to really enjoy their interactions. I heard a lot of laughter from many! Fire drill records were checked and all is up to date and recorded. Child files were also checked and they are complete and well organized. Towards the end of the afternoon, I observed pick-up. All parents are granted access into the building and many spent some time chatting with the operator and educators and watching their children play.
