General Comments

During the visit the children participated in a variety of activities such as playing puppets, drawing and making crafts, building towers with the magnet blocks, and playing with dinosaurs.

The children were able to move freely around the room and participate in any activity they wanted.

The children are encouraged to make their own decisions about what they wanted to play with and when to eat snack. The educators supported the children with the decisions the children made.

Educators were engaged with the children whether it was sitting on the floor playing, reading stories or making crafts together at the table.

The educators are patient and kind with the children as observed with an infant child that was teething and another child that was having a difficult morning, the educator kept checking on the child and sat with them and asked what they would like to do, reminding the child of the activities they had done the previous day.

Bathroom reminders were frequent as there was one child that was in the process of being toilet trained.

Staff and children's files were reviewed during the visit. All contained the required documents.

The facility was running smoothly during the visit. There was plenty of communication between the educators.
