Comments: The inspector observed a child sitting at the table while others are sitting on the field waiting for the educators to tell them the next activity. While taking ratio with the educators, the inspector hears a timer on the phone. The educator proceeds to tell the inspector that a child was put in a timeout for not listening. The educator went and told the child he could get out of his timeout. As per the Operators Manual, The following actions are prohibited: send a child to a cot, mat, timeout chair or corner. The inspector had a discussion with the administrator about the time-out situation. The inspector suggested alternative methods to guide children with needing to require a timeout. The inspector requested that all staff read section 8.2. The inspector also requested that a meeting with their Early Learning consultant takes places. The administrator confirms that she is in touch with their Early Learning Consultant. Positive child guidance techniques are used to support and encourage children in learning independence and appropriate acceptable behaviours.
