General Comments When I arrived for the monitoring visit, the operator and the children were preparing to go outdoors. The operator ensured that all children had hats on and sunscreen applied. Children had ample time to be independent and try to do their own shoes and zippers on sweaters and coats. During the morning, the children had a number of wonderful learning opportunities during their play. The operator's neighbor welcomes the operator and the children into his yard throughout the year and children get to play in the natural spring stream on the property. The operator had small wooden boats for the children to play with in the stream. The neighbor was outdoors tilling his garden and the children had some lovely conversations with the gentleman. He showed them how he tills the garden, the compost pile, some different flowers (purple trillium and a blood root plant). They picked rhubarb together as well. The children are going to help plant some seeds soon. The operator has plans to extend this learning inside. Once inside, the children all washed their hands and had lunch. The operator read a story to the children while they ate. She used fun voices to read the story and the children were able to learn about the word "nocturnal." The operator was very caring towards the children and used fun voices, compassion, and patience to help children with transitions and if they were upset. Personal belongings are organized in the entrance way and children have labelled hooks along with a clipboard with their art work.
