General Comments

The children were involved in some free play activities when licensing staff arrived. Two of the children were in the block area with the coop student, Jessica, while the other two were at the table making a craft and painting a picture.

The operator's current focus is recycled, reuse and repurpose materials. These materials are being used as loose parts and in craft making.

Children were given time frames for the transition from free play to outdoor play time.

The operator promotes independence in the facility by encouraging children to get dressed for outdoor play time on their own and to ask for help if it is needed.

While outdoors, the children played with bubbles, looked for worms under rocks and logs and even went on a bear hunt through the bushes in the play space. The slide was also a popular activity.

License staff observed children helping and complimenting each other.

It was a nice day, so the children had lunch at the picnic table on the veranda.

Now that spring is here, please remember to rake the protective surfacing and do a thorough check of all boards and stumps in the outdoor play space and replace were needed.
