General Comments

On the day of my visit the children were playing outside. The Operator screened me upon entry and we all explored the back area which is a series of imaginative spaces built in a little woods by the Operator and the children. The children are constantly inventing games and are very engaged in imaginative play which is fostered by the space and the variety of materials.

Inside the space is well set up for the children's use as well. The children were throwing pom poms into plastic buckets for points and monitoring and scoring the game independently. The children brought their lunches from home and there was lots of interesting conversation amongst the children and with the Operator.

They have a lovely display of documentation of the robots that they are building and the NB Curriculum is evident everywhere.
