General Comments
Educators' files were well organized and in compliance with the regulations during today's visit. Two groups of children were observed playing outside when I arrived. The outside environment offers many different materials that encourage different types of play, for example school aged children were observed playing soccer, on the play structure, on the climbing dome, and digging. Educators were observed joining in the children's play all while ensuring they were able to supervise the children. All educators were quick to act when a child said they required their assistance. There was one group still inside when I arrived. This group was observed participating in free play around the room. Some children were observed partaking in a Lego challenge, making paper bag puppets/doing crafts, and writing activities. This group went outside once they finished snack. Today was "Amazing Race" day at Go-Go. Children were divided into groups and asked to build a castle with the material that was provided to them in a certain amount of time. This activity gave the children a chance to work together as a team, and educators took this opportunity to talk to the children about the importance of teamwork. Educators were observed being attentive to the children during time of inspection. They were also observed providing gentle reminders to the children when needed. When children required one on one attention, educators ensured they got down to the child's level and speak with them.
