General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today. When licensing staff arrived at facility, the children were engaged in different centers set up around the room that had multiple opportunities for sensory learning, social interaction and exploration. Children were playing in the sensory table with water, cozy corner, kitchen area, art area and Lego station. All educators were observed engaged with children at their level, using positive language and guidance.

All displayed documentation was open ended and child led. Indoor materials were organized and labelled with words and photos to support Maintenance and care.

The word of the week "egg" was displayed on a parent board along with the upcoming planned activities for the week. The children showed licensing their experiment, egg in vinegar, and when asked "what do you think is in the egg" the children replied, "a baby chick".

Educators listened to each child, giving them time to think and express what they are feeling.

Schedule is posted that is predictable yet flexible to allow open ended, play based learning.

All checks were complete. All staff files were observed and complete.
