General Comments
Completed renewal inspection today. The operator was observed reading to the children, and setting up invitations for exploration throughout the time of the inspection. The children were observed within their indoor and outdoor environment today and appeared comfortable with their daily routine. Routine cleaning and disinfection procedures were evident within the environment. During today's inspection, the operator demonstrated flexibility and responded to the children's initiations and interests within the moment, providing them with a flexible routine based on their choices. The children's interests were apparent through documentation that has been posted throughout and materials and props that have been added to their environment. The children were eager to recount their recent experiences that had been documented at their level to revisit. Documentation posted on the walls demonstrates the implementation of the NB curriculum framework. The interest in dinosaurs has resurfaced recently, and the children are also working on building a "fairy house" together with materials from nature that they have collected. Other forms of documentation (ex: photographs, webs, learning stories, experiments, posters and creative art) demonstrate the children's recent interest in bugs, and birds as well. The operator is also currently supporting each child in creating their own reflection book on an individual past experience (ex: camping). The children were observed engaged in sensory play (water play) and gross motor activities outdoors and have recently planted vegetables outdoors and are monitoring their growth. Recommending for renewal.
