General Comments

A renewal Inspection occurred today.

The environment was set up with a wide range of materials for all the children to explore. The operator shared with licensing staff the new materials they brought in for one of their friends who is learning to pull themselves up. When the licensing staff arrived, a parent had brought in three princess dresses to add to the dramatic play area. The children showed their excitement as the parent handed them out.

The children were observed, playing with playdough, slime mixed with sparkles, singing and dancing with the operator, reading, and going outside. The operator and children sang songs during all transitions. (Washing hands, cleaning, etc.)

During outside play the children played in the snow with shovels and swung on hammocks. Pictures of the operator and children were hung on trees.

The documentation was current around the children's play space. The operator showed licensing staff the children's portfolios, their previous art experiences, and the operator's reflections for the children's learning.

The following records were reviewed: Incident logs, fire drills, daily attendance sheets, infant toddler daily sheets, and programming plans.

Operator's file was viewed, and all the child files were reviewed.

The facility is recommended for licensing.
